

The Reason I Hope

Living in a fallen world we can't escape the pain,

The heartache and the evil from Adam's seed of shame.

Life has many storms and we all will know the rain.

Tribulations come and go, but my hope remains the same.

I know beyond the stormy clouds an eternal sun shines bright,

In Him, I always find my hope my God, eternal light.

The torrential tears will pour, and I'll cry as others do.

But my grief is not the end; for I know the hope of truth.

The reason I can smile as my tears do rightly flow,

Because I know my God, who fills me with His hope.

We all live on earth and experience the rain,

But God eternal brings me hope in good times and in pain.

2021©SandyRyanPopp